It is certain that the British government will not attempt, as President Truman is attempting, to demoralize the three powers. At the same time, various plans being discussed there are in line with the idea that the three powers, while remaining independent, must be integrated more fully in the fields of politics, strategy and supply.

Before the war the higher direction of Britain's strategy was controlled by the Committee of Imperial Defence. It consisted normally of the prime minister, the foreign secretary, the three service ministers, the three chiefs of staff, the home secretary and the chief of the general staff.

Fear Lives Lost In Coast Floods

PORTLAND, Ore. Dec. 31.—(AP)—Six persons were missing and feared drowned as flooding rivers swept through western Oregon valleys Saturday and Sunday.

Four persons were reported missing and possibly drowned when a flood broke through a dam at Eugene. Police said the car was believed to have struck a trestle and plunged into a canyon.

REV. L. J. BARNES and his wife, Mrs. L. J. Barnes, of Portland, were reported missing Saturday when their boat overturned in a tidal flood on the Columbia river, a coastal strait.

Throughout western Oregon, highway bridges were closed up water and slides.

The flooded Willamette river emptied in the streets of Salem, Oregon state capital, Sunday, as a result of 21 feet-11 inches above flood stage—nearly the city.

Martin Bormann Reported to be Deputy Fuehrer's Deputy Arrested

NUERNBERG, Dec. 31.—(Reuters)—Czechoslovak newspapers reported today that Martin Bormann, Hitler's former deputy and one of the Nazi war criminals named in the Nuremberg indictment, had been arrested in the British zone of Germany.

SECURITY OFFICERS here reported that Bormann had been arrested, but would not say whether, if Bormann had been arrested, he would appear with the other 21 major war criminals now on trial before the international tribunal in Nuremberg.

Bormann is being tried in absentia.

The trial resumes Wednesday after a Christmas and New Year's recess.

If Bormann has been arrested, it may be that he is being held in custody by the British, one security official said.

His transfer here would probably involve a plane journey and then a secret trip in a strongly guarded vehicle.

One suggestion here was that the mysterious man who was arrested by British intelligence officers with a copy of Hitler's testament in his possession was Bormann or a man who gave information leading to Bormann's arrest.

This, it was thought, might be the reason why British intelligence officers were able to inform the United States intelligence men of the whereabouts of Frederick Wilhelm Paulus, who was Bormann's adjutant and confidant.

Conditionally Agrees To Communist Plan

By GEORGE WANG
Exclusive To The Edmonton Bulletin

CHUNGKING, Dec. 31.—(BUP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government today announced conditional acceptance of a Communist-proposed "cease fire" order in China's civil war.

THE NATIONALISTS proposed the agreement to a representative to Gen. George C. Marshall, President Truman's special envoy concerning the peace of carrying out the terms of the hostilities.

Chiang's proposal was announced at a "unity" meeting of Nationalist and Communist leaders. It was the first time the two party leaders had met since the Communists asked for cessation of hostilities last week.

THE NATIONALISTS proposed that all hostilities cease and railway communications be restored.

That both sides appoint a representative to see Marshall concerning procedure for carrying out the terms of the hostilities.

To Spend Millions

New Year's Revellers to Pay Top Prices for Celebrating

By The Canadian Press

Canadians, ushering in the year of peace 1946 AD, will spend many millions of dollars for the privilege of blowing horns, bursting balloons, whirling noisemakers, getting entangled in confetti streamers and "shouting like mad" when the clock strikes 12 tonight and the old year bows out.

A CANADIAN PRESS survey in Montreal shows that the cost of celebrating New Year's Eve in seven cities will be the most popular in the maritime provinces where prices range from $5.00 a couple to $10 in New Brunswick. In Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island it is $10 in New Brunswick.

Average cheer charge in Toronto is between $5 and $10 a couple, $15 being top. Night clubs and hotels plan on accommodating some 10,000 persons. Hundreds of persons are coming in from out of town and hotels say no rooms will be available until several days after the holiday.

In Winnipeg, dance hall admissions range from $5.00 a couple and all are booked solid. Many private organizations, too, are holding parties, but fewer house parties are planned this year. Regatta parties will pay about a couple for the privilege of dancing tonight.

British Columbia liquor allowance remains unchanged. VANCOUR, Dec. 31.—(CP)—The January liquor ration for each British Columbia permit holder will be unchanged from December, except that the special "bonus" of one case of ale allowed this month will be discontinued. It was announced Saturday.

Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy of Victoria announced the January ration in a telephone interview. The January ration will be 30 ounces of spirits; or four dozen beer; or one gallon of domestic wine; or two bottles of imported wine; or two bottles of gin. Bottles of gin must be obtained on the one purchase.

Ex-CBC Head

First Head of CBC Is Dead at Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 31.—(CP)—

Mr. Charlesworth, 53, author and critic and first chairman of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, now the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, died at his home here Saturday night after a heart seizure.

Mr. Charlesworth, music critic of the Toronto Globe and Mail and of Saturday Night, had just recovered from an attack of pneumonia.

HE FIRST BECAME associated with Saturday Night, Toronto, week in 1930, at the age of 18, and was still the best-known figure in the Saturday Night business more than half a century later.

One of Canada's most colorful newspaper personalities, he served successively on four of the seven Toronto dailies of his time covering most of the spectacular rise and fall of the newspaper industry in Canada.

As chairman of the newly-formed Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission from 1932 to 1936, Mr. Charlesworth brought radio drama to Canada, and by creating the "theatre of the air" introduced British provincial radio to Canada with much improvement culturally in radio.

secretary, the secretaries for India, the colonies and the Dominions, and the chancellor of the exchequer. This body, though somewhat cumbersome, had the advantage of flexibility and, as we have it, it was not too large, it was necessary to streamline it by reducing its membership.

When Winston Churchill became prime minister in 1940, he also assumed the office of minister of defence. The secretary of the Committee of Imperial Defence became the personal staff of the prime minister in his capacity of minister of defence, and the service chiefs came to be full-time members.

The minister of defence only met the day to day work of directing Britain's war effort really involved on a committee of four consisting of the three chiefs of staff plus Sir Hastings Lionel, who was the minister of defence's personal representative at the meetings of the committee.

In the early days of the war the three chiefs of staff used to take the chair in turn, but during the last two years the committee always was presided over by the chief of staff, Field Marshal Sir Alan Brooke.

GENERAL ISMAY managed to function in his capacity as minister of defence in a peace with a very small secretariat. He resisted the temptation which beset so many departmental chiefs of seeking to have his secretariat; his department, in fact, at the end of the war consisted of himself, two major generals and twelve other officers.

In the course of discussions now being held, it is generally agreed that in the post-war period Britain should continue to have a minister of defence. It is unlikely that in peace time the prime minister would fill this role himself as his duties on the home front would not allow him to give the job the attention it requires.

THE CHIEFS of staff function under a warrant signed by the prime minister which says: "In addition to the functions of the chiefs of staff as advisers on questions of sea, land or air policy respectively to their own board of council, each of the three chiefs of staff will have individual and collective responsibility for advice on defence policy as a whole."

One weakness of the system is that each of the three chiefs of staff is briefed by his own service department and must be the spokesman for his own particular service. Moreover if they do not agree, there is no means of taking a decision except on the political level.

HOW IT IS suggested in some quarters that the minister of defence should have a chief of staff who would have his own body of experts drawn from all three services and who would preside over all meetings of the chiefs of staff which were not attended by the minister of defence, in event of disagreement on minor matters he would be competent to make an overriding decision. Under this proposed scheme of course, differences of opinion among the major policy would still have to be referred to the prime minister and the Cabinet.

It is decided to adopt this plan, the difficulty would arise of finding a chief of staff who was not too prejudiced in favor of his own service. A likely and happy choice would be Marshal of the RAF, Sir Charles Portal, who is shortly to be succeeded as chief of staff by Air Marshal the Air Vice-Chief, Portal, though only 50 years of age, will retire shortly.

... as 1946 bells ring out we pray with you for a just and lasting Peace for all mankind.

Sees Prosperous Era

Canadian Pacific Railway President Looks to Future

By D. C. COLEMAN

Chairman and President Canadian Pacific Railway

The Canadian Pacific president, looking ahead to 1946, as does every Canadian citizen, with a prayer of thanksgiving that the past year saw the crowning of superhuman effort with victory.

AGAIN, AS IS EVERY OTHER Canadian, the company's president has taken an active part in the celebration that marked not only Canada but all right-thinking men and women throughout the world in the greatest co-operation for the common weal that the world has ever seen.

Victory, as too many sorrowing households know, was not bought cheaply in blood, in toil or in treasure. And it now behooves all of us to see to it that the heavy price paid returns some measure of dividend in the form of maintained peace, preservation of the world's peace and continuance of unselfish co-operation in all our affairs.

FIRST STEPS TOWARD such a goal have already been taken. Studies made while every new war was attained in the preservation of the war enabled the Canadian Pacific to take the wartime role as soon as warfare ceased.

Reconversion of machinery and services; and restoration to civil employment of men and women of the company's staff stood first on the list of post-war necessities. Both in the time and in the money, are proceeding satisfactorily.

Materially, the report for the year is good and the outlook for 1946, on the whole, bright. Reversion to civilian life and the service of those sections of the company's activities that were devoted to the war effort is proceeding with drive and urgency.

RECORDS HAVE BEEN made in the change-over from war to peace. In planning Canadian Pacific machinery and services, at Ogden shops, in Calgary, only 60 days were needed to transform an all-out war effort into one of the most up-to-date assembly line locomotive shops in America.

Auto shops, in Montreal, a high-production, dual purpose plant in Regina, previously devoted to the war years, have been re-equipmented with much improvement culturally in radio.

I am glad to be able to state that many have already returned from the services have brought with them new knowledge, new skills, new responsibility. As a representative of the company, I am proud to say that those who entered the services they claim that plans for the post-war Canada have been based upon a firm foundation.

RETURN OF PERSONNEL, due to understandable reasons, has not been so rapid as military rehabilitation, although, in the past few months, a fast increasing trend has been noted. Of the 20,000 men and women who enlisted in 1940, only 10,000 have returned to the company by the end of October. The return is doubled itself in that month and a similar geometrical progression is anticipated as demobilization proceeds.

On the sea the remainder of the pre-war fleet depleted by the heavy war losses over horse by one company, with a consequent tragic loss of brave men, has been augmented by the first of four new cargo carriers, SS "Beaverhead", a 10,000 ton, 16 knot, modern vessel. With her name, this new ship will be employed in fast regular freight transport between Canada and London.

OF THE PASSENGER vessels and all of British chiefs of staff during the war he was most reserved, mild and probably the least interested.

THERE IS, however, another school of thought which would like to create a full-blown ministry of defence which would take over large part of the function at present discharged by the three service departments. Against this it is objected that creation of a new government department would tend to make the whole structure top-heavy and that though it is essential to have a minister of defence, there is no need for the ministry. The outstanding work done by General Ismay and his very secretariat during six years is the true view.

Needless to say, whichever system is adopted both the British Cabinet and the British service chiefs unanimously have the combined chiefs of staff in Washington will continue to function.

WHAT LIES AHEAD FOR CANADA and the Canadian Pacific? In the hands of Canadian people. With sound government, the wide expenditure of public, corporate and private funds, with real friendship and honest co-operation between industry, labor, primary producers and consumers, 1946 and the succeeding post-war years can become the most prosperous era in Canadian history ever experienced.

The team-work that levelled all barriers during the war years was a training for the hard tasks that confront every Canadian with his face to the future. What the Canadian Pacific has done and is doing to prepare itself for the problems of the post-war period is but one contribution of the many that must be made towards the country's prosperity.

That prosperity must be founded upon honest work honestly wrought by honest hands, by the assumption by every citizen of his share in the building of a better world. There will be no room for strife between management and labor, between

Looks to Progress

By TCA Next Year

MONTREAL, Dec. 31.—(CP)—

J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, said in a year-end review of the airline's activities issued here yesterday that 1946 will be a year of important progress.

In common with civil air transport operators everywhere, TCA expects the time is now for expansion and increased public service," Mr. Symington's statement reads.

"TCA WILL INTRODUCE a new two-engine fleet of DC-3 aircraft and hopes to take delivery of the first Canadian-built DC-6a (four-engine) in 1946. This will mean service on new routes and increased frequency on established ones. Some of the recently assigned trans-border services will begin. A fourth daily transatlantic schedule will be inaugurated as soon as the required airport facilities are completed at Saskatoon."

Mr. Symington reported that TCA aircraft during 1945 flew 16,552,000 revenue miles, a 20 per cent increase, a 1,441,256-mile increase over 1944.

Passengers numbered 180,000, an increase of 23,116, express weighed 221,000 pounds, an increase of 64,800 pounds, and mail weighed 3,572,000 pounds, a decrease of 167,000 pounds. (Figures included for the last two months of this year were estimated.)

General Motors Heads Protest "Regimentation"

DETROIT, Dec. 31.—(AP)—General Motors Corporation said Saturday it refuses "to subscribe to what it believes will ultimately become, through the process of evolution, the death of the American system of competitive enterprise."

TOP OFFICIALS of the strike-controlled corporation said in a prepared statement that General Motors "will not participate voluntarily in what stands out crystal clear at the end of the road—a regimented economy."

The statement came from Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors, and C. E. Wilson, president, following the refusal of GM to participate further in proceedings of President Truman's fact-finding board.

Meers, Sloan and Wilson summed up the issue in these words: "IS AMERICAN BUSINESS to continue to be based on free competition or is it to become socialized with activities controlled and regimented?"

GM quit the government fact-finding board Friday, challenging the group's authority to consider ability to pay as a factor in studying the CIO Union-Automotive workers' demand for a 30 per cent wage increase. The corporation has offered the union production-linked workers, numbering 175,000, a 10 per cent increase.

Dealing with costs, prices, wages, profits, schedules and investments must be the responsibility of management, the statement continued.

"POLITICAL determination of such relationships means regimentation. The idea of ability to pay, whether in industry or in business, is not applicable to individual business within an industry as a basis for raising the wages beyond the legal rate."

Industry and agriculture, between manufacturer and consumer.

CANADA, WITH THE REST of the world, has been set back by six years dedicated to war. In dedicating the years to come to the maintenance of peace, the aim of each of us must be directed by the usefulness that characterized our war efforts.

That prosperity must be founded upon honest work honestly wrought by honest hands, by the assumption by every citizen of his share in the building of a better world. There will be no room for strife between management and labor, between

TCA Report

Say FDR Estate May Be UNO Home

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(CP)—

The odds rose Saturday night on Hyde Park, several hours after the opening of the International Press assembly, that the estate of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, becoming the permanent site of United Nations headquarters.

As a site-selecting commission prepared to fly to the United States to inspect proposed sites, several delegates here awaiting the opening of the International Press assembly, believed that the estate of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was far in the lead of other possible locations.

THE CHOICE appeared to be between the Hudson valley locality in Dutchess county, New York, and the Boston area.

Earlier Saturday a spokesman for the interim committee of UNO said that the organization's permanent home "probably" would be in the "general area" of either Boston or New York City.

A report ran over 2,447 miles inside the wheel of his age is less than three years.

District News in Brief

In Suburban Centres

January, One Year Ago, Was Month of Planning

At the threshold of another year, Northern Alberta's district residents were gazing into the future months with optimism and ambitious anxiety. Most of their towns had made progress in development during the last year. The war had ended and men were returning in a heavy stream to family firesides.

SOME OF THEM, however, in looking to the future, considered the past. Particularly they considered the things their towns had done just a year ago, when at the threshold of 1944, war was still raging and there was no telling for them when the final surrender would be signed.

The rural citizens recalled the day-after-day happenings of the first month in 1943.

THEY REMEMBERED THAT: At Coronation, preliminary surveys were getting underway for the first Red Cross mission scheme, a project that took in an area extending within two miles of Coronation's borders.

At Fortin, W. L. George W. Craft, three-wounded veteran of service with the RCAF in many parts of the globe was arriving home a hero, a hearty welcome from the townfolk awaiting him.

At Bashaw, the council passed a law providing all boys under 16 p.m. Saturday, the regulation to stand until March.

At Lacombe, several adult education classes were initiated.

AT JASPER, local women formed an auxiliary to the British Empire League. Residents of Three Hills learned their town needed a new building and laid the groundwork for the general council. Members of the Coronation Red Cross branch held their fifth annual meeting.

At Jasper, a post-office job was carried through that community. Col. A. G. Phillips, three-wounded veteran of five years' service with the Royal Canadian Regiment, returned to local residence.

William Sage was elected chief of the Lacombe volunteer fire brigade.

At Nondago, fire broke out in the school and the six-room building was razed.

At Athabasca, W. Macdonald was named president of the newly formed Athabasca Volunteer fire brigade. A new fire truck was purchased at Edmonton.

AT WETASKIWIN, construction of a new RCAF building started at Duane street. At Fortin, the children of the late Rev. Christian, held a reunion.

At Ponoka, the Chamber of Commerce was held of the need for a survey of post-war available jobs and post-war required jobs.

At Red Deer, residents urged the provincial government to fulfill the Capital Alberta city's desire for a new and better post office accommodation.

At Vermilion, some misadventure resulted in an outdoor practice football team and 400 players at the establishment of the Red Deer. At the same time, someone was arrested for breaching the law by driving a car without a license.

At St. John's, former Red Deer mayor, was honored at a town hall when he was presented with a gold watch.

THE WOMEN of the Bruce community were hard at work on various war projects. Henry Martin was his farm home at Bentley when fire broke out. Plans were under discussion at Grande Prairie for a swimming pool.

At Peace River, several war veterans, the early beginnings of many more in coming during the year, were welcomed to the community.

Relayers of the Jasper school district held their annual meeting.

AND OVER EVERYTHING, was the hope that the year would bring cessation of hostilities. That hope realized, Northern Albertans looked to January, 1946, as the opening month of a year filled with prosperity and opportunity.

Winner of $2,000 Raffle Announced

POKKA—George Noble, Ponoka, was winner of the $2,000 prize in the Kinsmen club's area draw. The draw was made at midnight Friday, at the conclusion of a ball staged by the club, by Max Jones.

Mr. Noble has the choice of cash, a Dominion of Canada bond or a new automobile.

Other winners in the draw were: R. V. Rovik, Wetaskiwin; Mrs. A. Williams, Ponoka; H. N. Green, Wetaskiwin; Bertha Holmsted, Edmonton; and Gordon Cameron, Ponoka.

Purpose of the raffle was to raise funds for the erection of an arena in Ponoka. The project was taken over by the Kinsmen last September and in time donations ranging from $1 to $500 have been received.

Original objective of the fund was $10,000. Response to the project has been so enthusiastic however that a $17,000 structure is now envisioned. Site of the arena will be the recreation park at the south end of town and tentative plans call for a seating capacity in the building of 2,000.

The myth that tuberculosis is bearing the point of being conquered has received two rude shocks of late. The first is the discovery of nine of thousands of unaccounted cases through mass X-ray procedures. The second is a report that the infected rate has not increased proportionately to the decline in mortality.

At Nondago, fire broke out in the school and the six-room building was razed.

At Athabasca, W. Macdonald was named president of the newly formed Athabasca Volunteer fire brigade. A new fire truck was purchased at Edmonton.

PRIOR TO HER marriage, Mrs. Stubbs was manager of a store in London, Eng. From 1909 to 1933 she worked as assistant municipal secretary in Hanna and was bookkeeper in the Central Garage before becoming the establishment's proprietor in November, 1944.

Her appointment to the motor firm agency was announced recently.

IN ADDITION to the son who works with her, another, Oscar, has been serving in the RCAF overseas since August 1944, having enlisted a year before that. Mrs. Stubbs attends the Anglican church here and refers to golf as her personal recreation.

Only war dog to win the U.S. Silver Star for gallantry in action, "Chips", a collie-German shepherd, donated to the K-9 corps by Edward J. Wren, Pleasantville, N.Y., in 1942, is welcomed home by four-year-old Johnny Wren. He got the decoration for attacking an enemy machine-gun nest in Sicily, seizing one man and forcing the rest of the crew of four to surrender. The war department later issued an order limiting award of the Star to human heroes. A recommendation for the Distinguished Service Cross for Chips was turned down.

Northern Indian Learns Taxidermy by Correspondence

A leading taxidermist in Canada, Ernest Couchal, 57, a Cree Indian, living on the Nipissing reserve near North Bay, Ont., learned the craft through a correspondence course.

A Year of Experiment

All types of minds and all varieties of temperaments will greet the year 1946 with unaccompanied interest—and some trepidation.

It is true that the annual milestone is no more than an artificial division in that metaphysical abstraction known as time.
In short, there is no substantial reason,
except a climatic one, why the first day that dawns in 1946 should differ in any way from the last day that sets in 1945.
But the New Year has peculiar significance this time because it happens to coincide with a period in man's history which holds out all sorts of new hopes and years and opportunities. This year of 1946, then, symbolizes a space in time which should be one of the most important and certainly the most interesting in the history of mankind.

This coming year will probably be essentially a year of experimentation. The human race has emerged from a tremendous house of spiritual and mental trial to find itself faced with an entirely new set of physical and psychological facts.

Science, with its discovery of a method for releasing atomic energy, has produced a factor which can revolutionize practically every material aspect of human life. The long years of reflection have produced a widespread demand everywhere for better living. Politics offers a new conception of internationalism.

The impressive fact about 1946 is that it will probably be devoted, largely, to those experimental changes which will enable men to become peacefully adjusted to the new world in which they live.

For there is no doubt that inherent in all these new factors is the potentiality for profound alterations in society. Man has had put into his hands the machinery for making life infinitely better or infinitely worse.

It is not without significance, under these circumstances, that prominent on the program for the New Year is a program offered by the major Christian churches in Canada. These churches are determined that 1946 will be a year of spiritual awakening across the Dominion, a re-dedication of the lives of Canadians to Christian purposes and Christian ideals.

The ecclesiastical program and the scientific program are inextricably interwoven with one another, and the only hope of becoming master of the new material facts he has discovered lies in strengthening his own spiritual conception.
In brief, the churches are determined possibly control atomic energy in a benign way is the force that is found in living God and in loving one's neighbor as oneself.

This year of 1946, then, looms up as a crossroads in human history. Canadians are equipping their minds for it. They may face it with courage, confidence and faith.

Reassurance

Prime Minister King uttered a profound and hopeful message to the House of Commons the other day when members were offering him birthday greetings. It is a particularly useful thought to consider at this moment.

"Looking at the future I feel more optimistic today than I have at any time. Over the troubled waters of today I see no Canadian attempts to deny the future beginning of a new world order. There is much to cause confidence and alarm, but I believe that the heart of mankind is kind and that it has been at any previous time."

Now one does not always agree with the prime minister in matters of political policy. Yet no Canadian attempts to deny that he is pre-eminently a man of good will, of minority and of high patriotic purpose. This statement reveals Mr. King at his best.

The hopefulness of the sentiment is obvious. It is what everyone hopes—that the "heart of mankind is kind" and that one does well to "lift his sights" above all there is to "cause alarm and concern" in the world to disperse and have more to anticipate than to fear.

The profundity of the sentiment lies in the fact that all good things must begin with faith. If men do not have faith in the hope and belief in betterment, then certainly there never can be betterment. This is a simple and yet profound statement of life.
Prime Minister King has armed himself with the first and most vital weapon of world statesmanship, the faith that makes no covenant with despair, that takes a high view of the destiny of mankind and that clings fast to the faith in the accomplishment of human destiny through human trust and good will.

By Way of Contrast

Those whose business is to distribute relief supplies throughout the devastated countries in Europe have a unique point of view. Their troubles only start when a cargo of food or clothing reaches a port in France or the Low Countries or along the Mediterranean coast. Thus begins the job of getting these desperately needed things moved inland, sometimes to points hundreds of miles away, and delivered in every city, town and hamlet.

At V-day the continental railways were out of commission over great stretches and badly crippled everywhere, highways had been in pieces, bridges were gone. How to get the supplies into the hands of the hungry and destitute nations scattered over great areas was hardly a trivial problem. It was a problem of magnitude. It is still a problem, despite the efforts to restore movement of the goods.

Canadians may find in this a basis of contrast which illustrates the service our own railways rendered in wartime, and are now rendering. There was no difficulty here in getting munitions and other supplies to
seaboard, nor in getting troops to embarkation points—there is no difficulty now in getting them back from the ports where they arrive. But for these railways Canada
would have been badly crippled in its war
effort as Europe has been, and still is, in
getting relief supplies distributed.

A word of appreciation is due to all who had to do with keeping these transportation services going through the war years at high efficiency, and who just now are keeping troop trains moving in unprecedented numbers and with surprising regularity.

Sugar will likely continue scarce until the spring of 1947. This isn't at all what the public would have liked to hear on the subject of sugar. There was no difficulty here
in getting munitions and other supplies to
seaboard, nor in getting troops to embarkation points—there is no difficulty now in
getting them back from the ports where they
arrive. But for these railways Canada
would have been badly crippled in its war
effort as Europe has been, and still is, in
getting relief supplies distributed.

All available British and Allied mine-sweepers are busy in the English Channel, recovering and destroying German mines
which were broken loose from their moorings by the receding heavy seas.

Hard work and hazardous work, almost as hard and hazardous as the crews had to undertake while fighting was going on. It was no more than a matter of time before they were made to man these craft—under guard of course—and to remove the perils from the sea lanes. That would discourage any yearning to again strain the seas with these instruments of death in a war of their own making.

Varsity Vets Ask Allowance Increase

MONTREAL, Dec. 31. — (CP) — An increase in student allowances for day veterans attending universities or taking voluntary training will be requested by the federal government this week by a seven-man council of the National Conference of Student Veterans. It was decided at Saturday's closing session of a three-day meeting of student veterans here. The conference wants $20 a month more for the single veteran and $30 for the married man. At present the allowances are $60 and $80 respectively.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE, of which J. L. Sturkey of McGill University is to be chairman, came into being at the final session of the discussions attended by more than 20 delegates representing 25 Canadian universities and colleges and three technical schools.

W. Burke of the University of Alberta was named to the national executive council, bringing the membership to seven. Other members include K. E. Wright, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg. Recommendations that the main allowance grant be raised was contained in a brief, presented Saturday afternoon, which stated that the request was based on questionnaires answered by 800 student veterans, which indicated that approximately one-third of student veterans now enrolled will be unable to complete their course on present income.

The brief of the financial panel added that if present conditions of unemployment persist, many students will be unable to earn sufficient during the summer months to return to university in the fall.

Furs To Be Displayed at Annual Pelt Show

Silver fox pelts, designed for military's shoulders or her wardrobe, like those shown above will be on display at the eighth annual exhibition of fox and mink furs to be held in the Market Building next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday under the auspices of the Alberta Provincial Fur Breeders' Association. Almost every fur rancher in the province is an exhibitor at this show, the greatest in the association's eight years of exhibiting.

History of Fur Is Revealed In Annual Display

The life story of fur from the trade to the showman is something which gives mink and fox ranchers as proudly as they place the soft garments across their prettily rounded shoulders. To her that is the beginning. To the farmer who reared the animal or animals it is the culmination of the fine art of breeding fur-bearing animals.

THE FUR RANCHER in Canada is a man with a big job on his hands and he must have plenty of knowledge before he can even start a successful ranch. He must know, for instance all about the nature of the fur-bearing animals who are his charges. Any fur rancher could explain that running a fox or mink farm has more to it than tending some feed in the little animals, putting them in a cage and hoping for the best.

Before the fur coats were any day along Jasper Avenue get their haircuts and the fur rancher has to provide his mink or foxes with the proper food.

AND THE DIET requirements vary from season to season. Particularly important is the diet used when the fur-bearers are expecting their young. In order to ensure himself a good yield, the fur rancher must first take care in breeding the parents of the prospective litter in the best condition so that when the young do arrive they will be healthy and endowed with the best possible prospects for growing up and developing that way.

CAGE CONDITIONS and conditions apart from the feeding angle vary according to the ideas of the different ranchers. All, however, have one goal in mind, that is, the production of good quality animals whose fur, when mature, will receive the utmost favor from buyers.

And to do this, fox and mink must be kept in clean, healthy conditions. Madame's fur coat, when traced back to its origin, depends a lot on how the fur, on the head is brought up.

The Bulletin's SPORTS SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

FINANCES of the Edmonton Junior Hockey League will be absorbing quite a jolt as a result of the Letbridge Maple Leafs' junior exhibition. Five hundred dollar guarantees and crowds of 1,064 or so, while not as far apart as the poles, hardly fall within the category of close neighbors.

Maple Leafs certainly have turned in better performances and have been better paid than the Edmonton team, but the biggest share in his team's 5-3 victory.

However, the outcome of the game which might be a preview of the two clubs, each presently having one victory over the other, leaves the Severn and Seven as rightful claimants to the title of second best club in the province. They have not yet met the Canadians who have won six straight to the Edmonton junior circuit, but this may be arranged for sometime in January.

IT WAS QUITE OBVIOUS that several of the Letbridge players were the game rough and tough, apparently being accustomed to a more liberal interpretation of the game rules than the Edmonton. If they have played in the past a revision of their code might be profitable.

Lavel, who eventually was sent to the hospital, was the chief offender, but Tommy McLean also had some novel ideas. However, Don McLean's high kicking of Bud McPherson which slightly touched off the Edmonton general melee, but Lavel was close at hand.

ED BRUCHET has a young team which if kept together for another year should be a reasonably strong junior aggregation. Don McLean is the only 18-year-old on the club and two promising defensemen, Mike Gibson, center, looked good, while Tom McLean could be quite a hockey player, although rather on the small side. Ken Simpson, right winger, comes from Medicine Hat and last season played in the playoffs here at the start of the season.

FINAL ROUND of the Allan Cup playoffs next spring will be played in Vancouver of a British Columbia team. Otherwise the final will be in the "eligible" Western Canada series.

In Western Canada series "A" Manitoba vs. Thunder Bay all games are to be on "Thunder Bay" ice. Series "B" will be the Saskatchewan vs. Regina. Series "C" will be the British Columbia vs. Vancouver. Series "D" will be the Saskatchewan vs. Regina.

MEMORIAL CUP FINAL has been awarded to Toronto and will be played in April 1935. The Memorial Cup draw for Western Canada will be held in London.

Series A—Thunder Bay vs. Manitoba on Manitoba ice. Series B—Saskatchewan vs. British Columbia. Series C—Saskatchewan vs. Regina. Series D—Saskatchewan vs. Regina.

A happy New Year to everybody!

RCAF Takes Over Communications System

RCAF personnel from No. 1 land line communications signal unit of Northwest Air Command are busy engaged in training to take over from the U.S. Army Signal Corps one of the world's greatest communication systems. It is the great 2,764 miles of telephone and telegraphic lines connecting Edmonton and Fairbanks, Alaska, along the Alaskan Highway. Above is a scene in the offices of the 843rd Signal Service Bn. of the U.S. Army on 102 street, a system of "double-banking" has been inaugurated, with RCAF airmen being trained for taking over the lines by opposite numbers in the American forces. At the extreme left is LAC E. C. Belair of Fort Saskatchewan. Next is Cpl. Robert J. Hamilton of Toronto, telephone construction lineman, getting the lowdown on the circuit from T-Sgt. Fred Ferrell of Hanger, Texas. Sgt. Ferrell is in charge of maintenance here. Standing in front of the teletype distribution board at the extreme right is Staff Sgt. G. "Gaby" Garbarz, signal centre chief from Lowell, Mass. The 843rd Signal Service Bn., charged with constructing and operating the system, is now commanded by Maj. Gen. N. Van Nort, Signal Ldr. N. W. Oregon, commanding officer of No. 1 land line communications unit, RCAF, is in charge of Northwest Service Command personnel preparing to take over operation of the lines, which consist of 10 telephone and 20 telegraphic circuits.

Soon to Ease Training Centre Congestion Here

The congestion caused at Canadian vocational training centres in the city by the 200 veterans taking pre-maturation courses as part of the Dominion government's rehabilitation scheme, will be eased with the opening of the spring term, according to J. W. Proctor, chief administrator, department of veterans affairs.

SINGLE MEN AMONG them without dependents and in receipt of benefits, are being sent to quarters in the former Red Deer army training camp. There will be nearly 120 returned men sent to the centre, Mr. Proctor said.

Every man in the group will be given a room in what was once officers' and sergeants' quarters at the centre, Mr. Proctor said. This service will only be for students receiving no pay, as all students receive an allowance of $10 a month. No veterans in upon full pay are army discipline enforced in the camp, he stated.

"Every man in his own," he continued, "and if he can study at that camp and absorb what he must, then it is his own business to continue studies after admission to the university."

Some protests have been heard from parents, who object that their sons are being sent to a place where they will be forced to live away from home for a further three or six months.

TO COUNTER these understandable objections, Mr. Proctor advances the claim that the buildings at Red Deer are ideal for the purpose, and that it would cost a great deal of the taxpayers' money to duplicate them in the city.

Classes open on Jan. 7. Out-of-town men who have been taking their own way and accommodation will be probably be charged for them in the City of Alberta town.
